

education nation

the mission: enable access to high quality distance learning solutions to all people globally. to support learners and teachers during the crisis.

Estonia and several Nordic countries offer their digital education solutions globally for free to support other countries during the covid-19 crisis. the initiative was started by Estonia, the leading education nation in Europe (no 1. in PISA test in Europe), announcing to share all of its digital education tools for distance learning to support everyone tackling to cope with the changes. the UN reported, over 800M children are affected with schools closing. the initiative Education Nation has spinned into a Nordic countries cause and the list of tools (regularly updated!) has already 40+ different solutions that are internationally available in English for free.

education-nation.99math.com

a call for all

Since the mission to share the knowledge took off, already 40+ Nordic EdTech companies have also taken the initiative to share their services globally and they all do it for free! One country's wish has quickly spun off to an international cause fueled by the private sector. The word has spread from Estonian parliament to Shakira's Twitter account (Yes, it is true! <https://twitter.com/shakira>) and back. We are on a quest to raise awareness of remote learning tools to all of those 800 million students affected by the current crisis.

Please support this initiative that is run by voluntary edtech enthusiasts fully voluntarily run organization to reach all of those parents, students and teachers in need of better software for distance learning. It would help us and everyone in this situation a great deal if You shared this message in Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and/or a blog. More information can be found on our web: <http://education-nation.99math.com/>

If You have any questions about the initiative or ideas how to help the cause, please get in touch directly:
Tõnis Kusmin, 99math CEO
educationnation2020@gmail.com

share the news

- 1) Already 40+ Nordic EdTech companies have joined #Estonia's initiative to offer their distance learning tools for free during the covid-19 crisis, to support learners, teachers and parents. You can find many cool and useful tools from learning math to music, even for creating augmented reality study materials. Share the opportunity!
- 2) European solidarity at it's best - #Nordic countries put their backs together and offer digital learning solutions for free to other countries during the crisis. Really great tools ranging from learning math to music and even mental wellbeing.

Link to site HERE

Ministry of Education and Research press release HERE

the news was re-tweeted
by Shakira (@shakira)!

#educationnation #digitalsociety
#candospirit #stayhome #edtech

backers

- + the initiative is supported by Startup Estonia and co-organized with the Ministry of Education and Research, Estonian Union of Educational Technologists, Good Deed Education Fund, Innove, HITSA, and Education Nation.
- + international partners include European EdTech Alliance, European Parents' Association, Nordic EdTech Forum - N8.
- + the initiative is run by 30+ volunteers and education enthusiasts

education-nation.99math.com

STARTUP
ESTONIA

GOOD DEED
EDUCATION FUND

HITSA

N8
NORDIC EDTECH FORUM